TENNESSEE BAR FOUNDATION LEGAL HISTORY PROJECT:
VIDEO RECORDINGS, 1998-2011

COLLECTION SUMMARY

Creator:

Tennessee Bar Foundation

Inclusive Dates:

1998-2011

Scope & Content:

Consists of 76 video oral history interviews of attorneys and judges from throughout Tennessee. The project was launched by the Fellows of the Tennessee Bar Foundation in 1998 and is an ongoing activity to help document the legal history of Tennessee. Each interview was conducted in the participant's hometown. The average interview is two hours in length, though the time varies. The discussions begin with some family background history before transitioning into the legal careers of the individuals. Commentaries on regional and national affairs include the 1968 sanitation workers' strike in Memphis and subsequent assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., arguments made before the United States Supreme Court, and general remarks and observations on social and political issues of the day.

The master tapes are in VHS or DVCam formats, depending on the year they were created. These master tapes are stored in a climate-controlled vault in the Library and Archives building. Additionally, DVD copies of all interviews and audiocassette copies of some of the interviews are available for public reference purposes and stored in an area that allows for immediate access. DVD copies are also available from the Tennessee Bar Foundation as well as at the Regional History and Genealogy Center of the Germantown Community Library in Shelby County. Documentation of the collection consists of a number of "Interview Notes" taken by the Executive Director of the Foundation and contains limited biographical information on some of the interviewees. These materials are available for basic research purposes, but copyright is retained by the donor, the Tennessee Bar Foundation. Any commercial use must be approved by the Foundation.

Its purposes are to honor attorneys who have distinguished themselves as "Fellows," to use contributions from the Fellows to support selected law-related public interest projects, and to administer Tennessee's Interest on Lawyers' Trust Accounts (IOLTA) program. The Foundation is based in Nashville and is still a thriving organization. The continuing Legal History Project began in 1998; seven to eight interviews are conducted each year.
